STATE POLITICS.

The depressed condition of affairs throughout the State is not calculated to inspire any unusual degree of political enthusiasm. Men are too much interested in endeavoring to solve the selfish problem of how to keep soul and body together to permit politics or the schemes of politicians to engage old-time attention. It is hard to throw up hats and hoosh on an empty stomach. There are no indications of bushels of gold notes, nor can the merry jingle of the bright twenties of the days of Sharon or Fair be heard on the lower levels. Rather are the signs of the times echoing the Hayes-Tilden campaign, when neither political power had a sufficient sum to pay their legitimately incurred expenses. In that election was demonstrated the fact that Nevada was naturally a Republican State, and that while "millions might be expended and no one corrupted," still it was not necessary to use money to insure victory. That election proved that it was necessary to use money to put the Democracy in power. In '78 Jones was re-elected to the Senate without the use of money. The Republicans had ample means for the ordinary expenses of the campaign. In 1880 Garfield, Daggett and the Republicans were defeated by money from the Democratic "sack." That very same "sack," although of temporary advantage, has killed the Democracy. It floated into office in every county a lot of fellows devoid of honor or intelligence, and there is hardly a county in the State which has not suffered from their rule. Storey has been shamefully mismanaged, and "governed too much." The people are tired of the Court House clique, and are anxious for November to come to administer a stinging rebuke. It is no more possible for a Democrat to be elected to office there this Fall than it is for a rich man to enter the gates of Heaven. The sentiment of this people is an index of the general feeling throughout the State, and we predict a second Oregon surprise for our Democratic friends. The Republican State Convention has but to perform its duty to the people and party to enlist an enthusiastic support from all taxpayers who are in favor of good government and just laws. The time for holding the Convention is close at hand. It is the manifest duty of every man who claims to be influenced by the principles of Republicanism, to exert his influence in favor of men who will represent the people, instead of any private interest. With a good ticket the Republican majority in the State will be 1,500.

The immense tide of immigration which has poured into the West during the past year has made its showing in the vast tracts taken under the Homestead law. In the Southern States, also, there have been quantities of land taken under the act, but over one-third of the whole of the homesteads for the past fiscal year have been located in the single territory of Dakota, where entries covering an area of 4,187,415 acres were made, as against 1,286,872 acres for the fiscal year ending June 20, 1891. Minnesota comes next, with a homestead interest for 583,333 acres. Close to it comes Kansas.

The White Pine Democrats have nominated W. C. Love and M. B. Garaban for the Assembly and R. M. Menomy, J. F. Cupid, George Boddy, Robert Briggs and Solomon Hill delegates to the State Convention. This is a split delegation. Menomy and Briggs are pronounced Canvasser men and the other three are understood to be for Adams.

It is said on good authority that a statement of the Western Union receipts for the twelve months just ended shows the gross earnings to be $17,000,000, against $14,000,000 for the twelve months preceding. The net earnings, it is alleged, show corresponding increase, making over eight per cent. earnings for the year of the stock.

Hon. William Woodburn has informed an Enterprise reporter that he has never authorized anyone to announce him as a candidate for Governor. He says he has no intention of going before the Convention.

M. M. Estee has been nominated for Governor of California by the Republicans. He stands upon a splendid platform, and is certain to make a vigorous and successful campaign.

It is stated on undoubted authority that the delegation from Elko county to the Democratic State Convention is solid for Matt. Canavan for Governor.

H. F. Page has been renominated for Congress by the Republicans of the 2d Cal. District. He will be re-elected.

Eureka's Depression.

(Eureka Sentinel.)

There is no denying the fact that Eureka is not as prosperous just now as it has been in the past. It is passing through a season of depression common to all mining camps. The Sentinel has strong faith that the present dull times are but transient and temporary. A careful review of the situation shows that the outlook for the future is as bright and encouraging as at any time in the past. Our mines, we have good reason to hope, will all be doing better in the near future. A great deal depends on the new shaft of the Eureka Consolidated. The powerful machinery of the new works is now in successful operation, and sinking is going on as rapidly as possible. The great pump will handle all the water that is likely to be encountered with ease. It has already been demonstrated that ore exists on the fourteen hundred-foot level. How much, is the question to be determined. The great lode is known to widen below the twelve hundred level. When the new shaft gets down it is fair to presume that large bodies of good ore will be developed. These explorations in the lower levels will require but a few months. The Richmond also will be able to prospect to better advantage below its nine hundred level when the Eureka Con. pump cares for the water which comes in from the southward. It is probable that an arrangement may be made whereby the Eureka Con. will relieve both mines of water on joint account. The Albion has large ore reserves. The Eureka Tunnel is shipping high grade ore from the lowest point ever reached in Prospect Mountain. The leaching process at Secret Canyon is an assured success. And so, when the entire field is taken into consideration, there does not seem to be any real cause for despondency among the business men of Eureka. On the contrary, the Sentinel feels justified in predicting a return of the old prosperous days of the past within the next few months. All that is required is the exercise of a little patience while the Eureka Con. is opening up its lower levels.

The Taxation of Ballion

(Virginia Enterprise.)

Colorado, by a provision in her Constitution, has exempted all mines, mining claims and the proceeds of mines from taxation for twenty years. The wisdom of this policy is shown by the remarkable stimulus imparted to the mining industry of the Centennial State. Under the Constitution of Nevada the Legislature is directed to provide by law for the taxation of the proceeds of mines, and, if it should be deemed expedient to follow the example of Colorado, we shall have first to amend our Constitution. This is an important question, and demands earnest consideration. Our mining industry was never before at a lower ebb than it is at the present time. From all over the State we hear of nothing but depression. The Comstock lode is not the only mining camp in Nevada where hope is rapidly yielding to despair. It is generally conceded that we have in Nevada the most magnificent prospects—a vast territory rich in minerals, and which only awaits the advent of capital and enterprise to develop its wealth. There are vast deposits of low grade ore in Nevada which cannot be touched by the miner at the present time. Cheaper methods of reduction and milling, a lower rate of transportation charges and the repeal of onerous taxation are the principal impediments to a prosperous development of our mineral wealth. Science will come into play to remove the first, a sagacious and liberal policy adopted by the railroad corporations can remove the second, and enlightened action on the part of the people will remove the third.

Cabinet Changes Predicted.

The New York Times' Washington special says: There are substantial reasons for saying that there will be an early recasting of the Cabinet. It will be from no disagreement between it and the Executive, nor from internal dissensions, but solely to insure greater efficiency in the service and to strengthen the Administration before the country. The need of the latter has for some time been felt. In this respect the Cabinet is not a strong one. It has been the cause of many complaints from Arthur's most faithful supporters. From the first it was plain that the Cabinet had too many grandfathers in it, and too little fresh blood and sinew.

The Marriage Year Lifted.

(Chicago Times.)

"Do you think so, darling?" "Yes," said the girl, passing her plate for more pie and smiling archly as she spoke, "kisses, and embraces and fair words are very pleasant things—sweet lips and warm arms, and loving eyes—but truth and sincerity, and loyalty, and purity are very much fairer and rarer."

"You are right," replied her husband, looking at her with loving tenderness, "you are right, sweetheart, and I will not deceive you any longer."

"What do you mean?" she asked, a look of horror passing over her face.

"There is but one piece of pie," said Geo. W. Simpson, "and I shall tackle it myself."

The Eureka Leader has changed hands. Mr. Jas. E. Anderson having disposed of it to Mr. H. Moller. It is also understood that Mr. E. Robinson has an interest in it.

The cheapest picture a man and picture and cornice in the town at Osburn & Shoemaker's.

A plea for sleep, and why Americans need more sleep than other folks, is set forth by the Christian Union:

The truth is that the very rapidity of our life, the wakefulness and wakefulness of our times, the strain and drive of all pursuits, make longer periods of sleep necessary for us than people living in more quiet countries and at a slower rate. We get tired enough if we are well, and if we don't get tired enough to sleep all over and clear through, it is a sign of nervous disorder. Sleeping is something more than a luxury for Americans, though the very opposite would be inferred from our habits. There is no way by which the wear and tear, the drain and stain of American life can be neutralized but by large feasts of sleep every now and then, a generous allowance every 24 hours. Four hours work of a man who is thoroughly awake and vitalized, to the top of his faculties, are worth more for all practical business or literary or social purposes than fourteen hours of weary muscles and jaded nerves and flaccid impulses.

Advertising Medium.

The advertising columns of the JOURNAL afford an excellent opportunity to our readers to study out where purchases of all kinds can be made on the most advantageous terms. All classes of goods can there be found advertised from a suit of clothes or nice silk dress to the daintiest ornament in the jewelry line. The JOURNAL reaches nearly every family as well as business house in the county, and, therefore, advertisers seek its columns that the public may know what they have for sale.

SEVENTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT.

Review and History of Judges, and Judicial Notes of Washoe.

The Times says it has met several persons recently who were not aware that after the first Monday of January next Washoe county would constitute a Judicial District, to be known as the Seventh, and Ormsby and Douglas will remain as the Second District. Washoe will then be restored to the position it occupied before January, 1871, when it became united with Ormsby and Douglas. It may be of interest to our readers to note the changes that have been made in this Judicial District since the first organization of the county, and the occupants of the bench. Upon the organization of the Territory of Nevada Washoe county was made a part of the First Judicial District, and Hon. Gordon N. Mott was assigned to it as Judge. He was succeeded by Hon. J. W. North who presided until the State was organized, when the Judges were elected by the people, and Washoe county became the Fourth District. At the first election, in 1854, C. C. Goodwin was elected Judge on the Union ticket, over John H. Flack, the Democratic candidate. The Legislature of 1866 changed the number of the District, making it the Third; and at the next election in November, 1866, C. N. Harris, Republican, was elected Judge over W. L. Knox, Democrat, and held it for four years. The Legislature of 1869, in rearranging the Judicial District, attached Washoe to Ormsby and Douglas counties, making it a part of the Second District, and it has remained such until the present time. In 1870 Judge Harris was elected Judge of the Second District, the Democratic candidate being P. H. Clayton, of Carson. In 1874 S. H. Wright, of Carson, was elected to succeed Judge Harris over P. H. Clayton, who was again nominated by the Democrats. At the next election the candidates were C. S. Varian, of Reno, Republican, and S. D. King, of Carson, Democrat, who was elected. Judge King's term will expire the first Monday in January, 1883, and Washoe will return to her former condition of an independent District. In consequence of this change the candidate for District Judge will be nominated by the respective County Conventions of their parties, instead of by delegates from the district to the State Convention, and this fact should not be lost sight of in choosing the delegates to the County Conventions.

PERSIAN POWDER.

How to Cope with Gallinippers.

The hot weather now-a-days brings with it the accompanying torment of flies. In Reno they are the pests, while down on the meadows mosquitoes are the champion tormentors. Various remedies have been suggested and tried without effect, until at last suffering humanity has become desperate. The eucalyptus tree, which is shunned by the insect torments, has been advocated as a relief, and several farmers and scientists have essayed to cultivate it here, but it doesn't take kindly to the soil. The very best remedy for mosquitoes and bothersome flies can be found in a tincture of the famous Persian Powder. It is grown extensively in California, and when reduced to a powder and dusted throughout a closed room will give the last quietus to all the insects in the apartment. A new use for it has been proposed, in the shape of making a fluid extract or tincture, with which the neck, hands, face and other exposed portions of the tortured body are bathed. One sniff satisfies the most bloodthirsty mosquito, and he immediately departs in disgust for other fields. It is stated that the residents of Glendale, where the gallinippers have tweezed on them the size of steam puffers, have contracted for all the coming crop of Persian Powder in the Golden State, and when they get it they intend dropping it down some convenient thousand foot shaft.

A Fine House.

Ben Small, of the Arcade, is an old pioneer and Sacramento man, and there is scarcely a day when some one or other of his old acquaintances from California do not drop in on him. No matter where Ben may be located on the coast, all the multitude who have known him, will drop in to see him if he is known to be in the vicinity of any quarter at which they arrive. A fine house, fine table and fine bar united with a generous management, with Ben Small behind it, attracts all the old timers.

Another Runaway.

Thursday evening a horse belonging to a Mr. Miller, standing in front of the house of a Mr. Upson, a gentleman living near the railroad bridge, took fright at some parties trying to harness him, and skeddaddled down the road nearly a half mile before he was captured. He would not have been caught so easily within that distance, only he became entangled in the hitching strap, which enabled his pursuers to easily capture him.

Where Are You, Duffy?

No trace has yet been found of the escaped prisoner, Duffy. Some days ago he was given a new pair of shoes which were two large for him, and in crossing the river he sunk one of them in the turbulent Truckee. It seems that Deputy Humphreys came across him on the north side of the river near Bragg's lumber yard, where he was busily engaged in returning the fire of a lot of boys who were throwing rocks at him. Mr. Humphreys was unable to use his revolver, owing to the boys being between him and the escape; and the latter seeing the Deputy after him slipped into the thick shrubbery that lines the river bank and escaped. Though the thicket was searched for over three hours, no track of Duffy could be found. It is hardly likely though, that he can long succeed in escaping the vigilance of the officers and telegraph. The majority of the people think that a man who is foolish enough to risk the penitentiary, when he has only four days more of a sentence to serve, and might be released with a present of a few dollars in his pocket, is a fool who deserves to be recaptured.

Bricklayers Needed at Salt Lake.

There are a number of good bricklayers idle here in Reno, awaiting better times. It might be well for them to take a trip Salt Lakewards, judging from the following:

The Salt Lake bricklayers are getting from $4 to $4.50 per day. A builder informed a reporter of this paper yesterday that workmen were very scarce and fully 100 more could find employment until January, at least.—[Salt Lake Tribune.]

Cattle and Sheep.

The vicinity of Reno seems to be a favorite place for both sheep and cattle men. A few days ago, Mr. Wilson drove through town a band of nearly two thousand sheep, on their way to the corral to be branded. Yesterday a band of seventy or a hundred young steers and dry cows, passed the Lake House, on their way to Virginia City. Both cattle and sheep are becoming scarce in this section.

They Mashed After Him.

Hank Knight returned last night from a trip to Bodie and Camdalaria and adjacent points. He informs us that he has been employed by Adams to superintend the Democratic State Convention. The utmost harmony will now pervade the ranks of the "Unterrified."

—[Eureka Leader.]

The chances are that the unterrified are already Hank (ering) for K (night) to come.

The Reno Branch of the Irish National Land League will hold its regular monthly meeting on Saturday, Sept. 2, 1902, at 7:30 P. M., sharp, at Hoffman's hall. All members are requested to attend.

TIMOTHY KIRKHEAD, Secretary.

FUN ON THE RAIL.

How an Ancient Maiden Lost Her Teeth and Standing on the Cars.

Another one of those annoying sleeping-car mistakes occurred up the railroad the other night, the particulars of which are given by the Elko Independent. In the car were two Austin girls, as full of fun as an egg is of meat, two kiln-dried and sour-visaged ancient maidens, and a Eureka miner. When the berths were made up at night, the old maids were put into a double bunk next to the miner, and on the opposite side were the Austin girls, dying to have some fun. One of the old maids retired moderately early, but the other one kept flitting back and forth between her berth and the dressing-room, until everybody got mad. Finally she went to the dressing-room with her toothbrush, and after scrubbing her teeth pretty thoroughly she came back to retire. In order to avoid any mistakes, she pinned a ribbon on the curtain of her berth, and this one of the mischievous girls changed to the curtain which screened the miner.

When the old maid returned, she had her teeth in one hand and her brush in the other. She put the brush inside of the curtain and laid the teeth down near the old miner's head, and began slowly to climb in, softly humming the fragment of an old song as well as any one could who hasn't any voice and has taken her teeth out for the night. The harmony awoke the miner, who looked reproachfully at the venerable maid, and cried out:

"You must go right away from here, or I shall scream right out and betray you. Please go right away or I shall tell your sister. I will hand your teeth out and you can steal back to your own bed without being detected. Even if you have no respect for yourself, consider my situation and do not come any nearer to me than you are. Consider your age, too. A woman at your age should be making her calling and election sure. She should be circumspect and considerate. Go back, quick, before the conductor comes and my life is clouded forever. I am unarmed and defenseless; I have only the memory of an upright life and a ticket for Omaha. I will give you the ticket if you want it, but I do not want to blast that blessed memory."

Then he banged her on the nose with a pillow and threw her teeth out on the floor with a crash.

The next day, as she rode in the car with her mouth caved in, people pointed her out to each other and shook their heads sadly, and said they would not believe it to look at her; and a commercial traveler from San Francisco went and slept the next night in a second-class car, where he felt that he would be safe from the intrusion of the antiquated maiden.

The Miners' Picnic.

Saturday after next on September 9th the Miners Union of Storey and Lyon counties will give their grand annual picnic at Tradways Park in Carson.

The programme of games and prizes is quite unique, and a large number of valuable and handsome prizes will be distributed among the successful competitors. Without going into the details of the prizes promised, it may be mentioned that awards will be given in the following contests: military shooting, glass ball shooting, grand tag of war, ladies' race, girls' race, men's race, boys' race, throwing the heavy hammer, throwing light hammer, running jump, standing jump and vaulting with pole. The tickets for the round trip including admission to the park will be two dollars.

Elko Democrats.

The Elko Democrats on Thursday nominated Major John H. Dennis for State Senator; E. P. Hardesty, M. Van B. Wisker and Jas. McBurney, Assemblymen; Ben Fitch, Sheriff; A. G. Dawley, Clerk; S. M. Henney, Recorder; J. W. Dorsey, District Attorney; A. W. Hesson, Assessor; L. E. Morgan, Treasurer; A. S. Watson, Surveyor; C. W. Grover, Co. Supt. of Schools; Chas. Lampman, Commissioner (long term); S. S. Sears, Commissioner (short term).

A Needed Improvement.

The gate of the new fence around the Court House had one serious defect which has been remedied. It would only shut one way. The obstinate side has been filed down, and now the hurried county officials will not have to stand in their hurry and adjust the catch of the gate lock.

The Democrats will hold a meeting to-night, and will probably appoint the time for holding the primaries and the County Convention.

A COUGH, COLD OR SORE THROAT should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an incurable lung disease or consumption. BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES do not dis-rupt the stomach like cough syrups and balams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Catarrh, and the Throat Troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years Brown's Bronchial Trochies have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction.
